Surviving Saturdays: Life Outside of CA

By Rachel Goldstein, 14.7

Are you missing Creative Arts over the weekend? Wishing you could come back here and go to camp? Well, you can't. But there are some very fun places to go over the weekend in the city, or nearby. Here are a few places that you can go and have fun:

Chelsea Piers 300 Bowling Alley. A fun place to go and bowl with your friends; there is also an arcade.

Rye Playland. Actually in Rye, NY (about an hour away), but a very fun place to go and ride roller coasters.

The Central Park Zoo. A fun place for little kids to see animals.

Don't miss the Sea Lion feeding!

Union Square. A very nice little park with many great stores around it.

Madame Tussaud's Wax Museum. Located in Times Square, this isn't like any other museum. Instead of spotting celebrities, get your picture taken next to a wax replica!

Dave and Busters. Also in Times Square; a really big, fun arcade and restaurant.

The Hard Rock Café. Not just another Times Square restaurant—you can get close to some pretty awesome rock memorabilia.

The Natural History Museum. A cool museum on the Upper West Side with a lot of interesting science exhibits.

The M&M store. A really fun Times Square location with custom M&M colors.

Broadway. THE place to go for theatrical marvels, like Billy Elliot.

Victorian Gardens. Wollman Rink during the year, it morphs into a wonderful little amusement park for younger kids.

Coney Island. Located in Brooklyn, a great amusement park to visit especially because it is near a beach. Plus, you can visit Bob's trapeze school, Streb, while you're over there!

Soho. A nice little neighborhood with great restaurants and shops.

Ripley's Believe It or Not. Another Times Square location complete with amazing things to see. It's like a live Guinness Book of World Records.

Metropolitan Museum of Art. A beautiful museum filled with everything from classical to modern art.

Central Park. When all else fails, go for the standby! There are always new playgrounds and areas to explore.

I hope this helps make your weekends more bearable without Creative Arts!

Hungry Stomachs Grateful for Patsy's Pizza!

By Isabel Maun, 13.6

We would all like to thank Patsy's Pizza Shop for providing the pizza for the Social! It was so nice of them to provide the pizza for all of our hungry stomachs! Thank you, Patsy's, we are all very grateful. You made our Social very special!

The Suave and the SUPER Suave

By Zoe Woolrich, 7.8

Every CIT and Intern looked fantastic yesterday, but I'd like to highlight some specific suave people:

The Girls

Liza

Jessie

Aja

Audrey

The Boys

Dan

Rob

Ben

Harrison

Camper satisfied with the suave

What an awesome Suave Day!

Emma and the Juniors

By Maryanne Cozzetto, 9.6, Maria Dolben-Mantilla, 13.0, and Sofia Dolben-Mantilla, 10.3

The Heartbeat got an exclusive interview with Emma, a new CIT who works with the Juniors. She took a few minutes to speak with us.

Q: What is your favorite thing about working with the Juniors?

A: I like working with them because they're very, very cute and some of them are great listeners.

Q: Why did you decide to work at Creative Arts?

A: I decided to work at Creative Arts because I loved being a camper here!

Q: What did you do before coming to work at Creative Arts?

A: I graduated from high school.

Q: Do you have another job besides Creative Arts?

A: No, I'm going to be a college student.

Q: What is your favorite color?

A: I have two: green and yellow.

Q: What's your favorite ice cream flavor?

A: Oatmeal Cookie from Ben and Jerry.

Q: What's your favorite animal?

A: I can't decide between dogs and horses!

Thank you to Emma for taking time to answer our questions!

Sequins Put the Sparkle in Wearable Art

By Camila Larrain, 8.3

I'm going to tell you about my Wearable Art class. We're using a lot of buttons—we're making button necklaces and bracelets! We're also doing sunglasses, takeout boxes, and bags. That's all I remember. I'll tell you about what my bag looked like. It has buttons, glitter, and sequins! If you're in Wearable Art, I hope you like it!

Will Arts Festival Live Up to Hype?

By Aimee Eicher, 8.4

Last year, the Arts Festival was a very fun event. Lots of people had great projects and dances, and it was a lot of fun watching and performing on stage! Last year I did the Junior Musical, The Little Mermaid. This year, I bet the Arts Festival will be just as fun. I really hope to see the Mini Musical! Have a wonderful time!

Mixed Media Madness

By Lindsay Manocherian, 14.2

For years I have been taking third period sewing. Sewing with Mary was really fun and I really loved it, but this year I decided to try something new. I took Mixed Media Madness and I have been really enjoying it. We do a lot of different arts and crafts things: we make collages, paintings, sketches and a lot of other cool stuff. My teacher, Asia, has been doing art for a long time and enjoys teaching kids. Currently, we are making self-portraits and collaging over them—it's really awesome. I will always enjoy sewing, but I am glad I tried something new this year!

Camper has no words to describe how awesome this year's Social was
