

BUTTER-FLIES HIGH

By Rebecca Randall, age 12 and Scarlett Huntington, age 12

Everyone saw team Butter-flies win the Reality Show at the noontime show yesterday, but what did they have to do to win? Team Butter-flies won the first challenge, which was coming up with a song and dance. Team Skittles won the second challenge, creating a dress and castle for Shrek. Then, Eson announced that the third challenge was The Amazing Race. However, before the challenge started, the teams had to compete in a game of Gaga Dodgeball with the class of Indoor Sports Challenge to get a 5 minute head start in the race. The final score of the dodgeball game was 5-1, Skittles. Team Butter-flies was getting worried because they were behind team Skittles for most of the The Amazing Race. Eventually, both of the teams ended up with Meg for the final part of the challenge, both teams had to build a newspaper tower that could withstand setting 2 on the fan. Team Skittles won because their newspaper tower was sturdier and Team Butter-flies' tower epically failed. It seemed that Team Skittles had won Reality

Show, but Eson had one last challenge in store. For the last challenge, both teams had to answer multiple riddles to find out which door Nick was behind. Team Skittles won the The Amazing Race, so they got to guess first. They guessed door A and they were incorrect! Then, the Butter-flies guessed door C and they were correct! Last year, the winner of Reality Show was determined by the number of challenges won, but this year the final challenge determined the winner of Reality Show. So, Team Butter-flies won!

How Good is George at Rubik's Cubes?

By Dylan Marcell, age 9

George is super good at Rubik's cubes. George can solve a 2x2, 3x3, scube, pyraminx, and is close to solving the 4x4 and hexagon prism. As for me, Dylan, I can solve a 2x2. George is way better than me though. George has been a cuber for half a year now. No matter how you scramble the cube for George, he will solve it! George recently mastered the scube. The scube is like a diamond with 4 triangles surrounding the diamond. And George is only 10! That is really impressive for a 10 year old to be able to solve that many cubes! George and I did a Noontime Show with Rubik's cubes and George solved the 2x2 in 12 seconds. George also did a pyraminx (pyramid-shaped cube) in 23 seconds and the 3x3 in 47 seconds. That is amazing George!

Where Was Nick?

By Alessia Venini, age 10 and Avery Walker, age 11

Yesterday, the Butter-Flies found Nick in Door C and won Reality Show: The Challenge. We interviewed Nick about what happened while he was missing.

Heartbeat: Why did you go missing?

Nick: I thought I was in trouble for injuring Theo, Eson, and Charlotte but it turns out they love me and went looking for me.

Heartbeat: How do you feel about your actions?

Nick: I felt horrible. That's why I left, but I realized when I came back that Eson and Theo never stopped loving me.

Heartbeat: How do you feel about Butter-Flies winning?

Nick: I think this was the best year of Reality show yet and both Butter-Flies and Skittles killed it.

Heartbeat: Where did you go on your trip?

Nick: I went to work at Dalton...

LEMS OT SIHT ESU UOY

By Ava Van Dusen, age 11

Did you realize that Eson backwards is Nose? Here at Heartbeat, we think it's a clue. It is possible that Eson could be a robot being controlled by a magical nose that is super smart. I even asked him myself.

Ava: HEY ESON, Are you a Nose?

Eson: YEP.

And if you don't think this is enough evidence, here is an artist's rendering of the nose and the control panel. If you listen closely you can hear the gears grinding in his head. The only reason he is working at this camp is because he wants to convince everyone that he is human, and then he will run for president, get elected, and CONTROL AMERICA. Then he will take over the other countries and continents AND THEN THE WORLD (then the universe).

Strange Discontinued Foods

By Michael Gonzalez, age 11, and Preston Frankel, age 14

HEINZ COLORED KETCHUP

This product came in colors like purple and green. It started in 2000, but was discontinued in 2006

3D DORITOS

This line of puffy Doritos was introduced in the 1990's and discontinued in the mid-2000's.

MCDONALD'S ONION NUGGETS

In the 1970s, McDonald's tried to make onion lovers a treat. Onions shaped like chicken nuggets. This idea failed.

NERDS CEREAL

The popular candy was turned into cereal, but apparently nobody liked the idea of hard candies mixed with milk for breakfast. It was introduced in 1985, and discontinued the next year.

THE MOST IMPORTANT SPECIAL MOST AMAZING HONORABLE MENTION: CRYSTAL PEPSI (Sadly, this clear version of Pepsi was taken off the market due to health risks.)

Shrektastic!

By Sonia Servedio, age 12, Lina Teplitsky-Kahn, age 12, and Giulia Chiodi, age 12

Since we saw the musical, Shrek, today at the noontime show, we thought that we would give you some fun facts about the movie. We also added in some other fun Disney facts! Hope you enjoy!

- The principal actors for 'Shrek' never met each other; they read their lines separately.
- Some of Shrek's development team took mud showers to study the movement of mud.
- Apparently, the scene in which Fiona burps out-loud in the movie was based on a moment where Cameron Diaz actually overtly burped in front of the director.
- In Yiddish, the word 'shrek' is often used to mean 'monster.'
- The voice actor for Lord Farquaad (John Lithgow) is 6'4"
- Shrek has his own star on the Hollywood walk of fame

OTHER DISNEY FACTS

- The people who voiced Mickey and Minnie Mouse were married in real life.
- The voice of Snow White, Adriana Caselotti, was paid $970 for the film. She wasn't credited for her role and had to actually sneak into the premiere because she hadn't been invited.
- Princess Aurora was 18 years old in the movie, had 18 lines of dialogue, and was in the movie for 18 minutes.
- Mulan is the first Disney princess that wasn't actually a princess.
- The names of the main characters in Frozen sound out the name of the author of the original story! (Hans+Kristoff+Anna+Sven= Hans Christian Andersen.)
- When Disneyland was first opened, people with facial hair weren't allowed in.
- Frozen is the first animated Disney film directed by a woman.
